High Altitude Training Center

at Infinity park

Opening Summer 2010

Infinity Park opened its doors on September 7, 2007 as the FIRST municipally-owned rugby-specific stadium in the United States featuring 4,000 seats and an IRB regulated rugby pitch. In July, 2008 the Glendale Sports Center opened to the public featuring a 35,000 sf health and fitness facility. November, 2008 saw the opening of the Event Center including an 8,600 sf ballroom for special events with multiple meeting rooms. In May, 2010, Infinity Park announced the opening of an 8-acre park for residents and surrounding communities. Infinity Park features a Sports Field, a Park Pavilion and a Field House Deck, all of which may be reserved for private or public events.

Infinity Park is expanding its footprint once again with the opening of the FIRST High Altitude Training Center in North America. Located on the second and third floors of the four-story building located on the southwest corner of the stadium pitch, the new High Altitude Training Center consists of state-of-the art strength and conditioning programs and equipment, a hot and cold recovery room, core training, balance and stability training, nutritional counseling, meeting and training rooms and more.

In Glendale, where there are only 3 single-family homes, Infinity Park has proven to be a gathering place with infinite possibilities.

Be the first to put your mark on the High Altitude Training Center at Infinity Park. Please contact Diana Anderson or Emily Rondi for more information.
